

I

- 'ing' verb: Lying on the sofa, he tried to remember some of those old emergencies.

S

- subordinate clause: If you were Marv Hammerman, you didn't need a reason.

P

- preposition: Inside the building, the boy was still running

A

- adverb: Abruptly, he turned his head toward the sofa.

C

- connective: Meanwhile, Gus and Gloria were in the playground watching.

E

- 'ed' verb: Blinded by the light of the sun, they emerged through the door.

D

- dialogue: 'I haven't got anything,' he called, 'so quit looking at me!'